

Wisconsin should be PROUD to have the toughest "NO call" law in the nation. If the people of this state really wanted to weaken it, why aren't they calling or writing their legislators? The only ones who want to change the law to comply with the more lax federal law is the telemarketing industry who wants to continue to badger people like myself with a barrage of bothersome phone calls. DO NOT change the "no call" law. If I want to contact a business, I can do it myself.

Thanks,
